

Long Beach Justice Fund Updates

City Council Meeting - April 9, 2024

Background

The Long Beach Justice Fund (LBJF) provides free legal representation to low-income individuals residing or working in Long Beach and are at risk of deportation. Since its inception, the LBJF has represented community members in removal proceedings, at the Los Angeles Immigration Courts, Van Nuys Immigration Court, Adelanto Detention Facility, and the Santa Ana Immigration Court.

Updates to Long Beach Justice Fund

Program Goals

- Reduce the number of Long Beach families and communities impacted by deportation.
- Increase preventative measures for residents who could be subject to deportation.
- Increase community access to legal assistance for other forms of relief and pathways to status, such as removal proceedings, affirmative applications (such as but not limited to U Visas, T Visas, and VAWA petitions), and appellate representation (for motions to reopen and Ninth Circuit Appeals).
- Improve connection to supportive services, programs, and resources for low-income, undocumented Long Beach residents.
- Strengthen the social service net of basic needs assistance resources and providers available to immigrants and refugees of varying status.
- Improve connection to other immigration legal services and programs.
